

HODGENVILLE

Gaining an Unenviable Reputation Through Welcoming Bigotry.

Sides With A. P. A. Soap Box Orator Against Respected Citizen.

Aid of Menace Invoked by Baptist Minister Subscription Solicitor.

EXPLAINS THAT TOWN'S DECLINE

Several weeks ago an itinerant A. P. A. preacher, named Rev. William Roberts, and traveling under the guise of a Salvation Army worker, that is using a uniform as near that as possible without being arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses, was the center of quite a little discussion and interest in the neighborhood of Hodgenville, New Haven and other surrounding points, his advent, as is frequently the case, stirring up much religious hatred and bigotry. Roberts' first appearance was at New Haven, where in a house to house collection he obtained a little money from persons who were under the impression that they were contributing to the Salvation Army, his cap appearing the same as that worn by workers of that organization, but on close inspection it was found that it read "Independent Religious and Temperance Worker," which proves conclusively that Roberts was a fraud, there is no organization of that name and the only truth in the label was the word "worker," as he worked several unsuspecting persons and suckers for the benefit of his own pocket. Temperance workers as a rule are inclined to water, but Roberts didn't seem to favor that plank in the temperance platform, even from a toilet standpoint, as he appeared sadly in need of a bath.

From New Haven this tramp A. P. A. evangelist journeyed to Hodgenville, where it seems as discovered more fertile fields. In other words there were more easy marks or bigots in the latter place, and judging from subsequent events it appears as if there were more bigots. In one of his daily soap box harangues, in which he was denouncing the Catholics in general, saying that they were a disgrace to the American flag and that everyone of them had a yellow streak up his back, attention of D. E. Riney, a prominent citizen and Catholic, was called by a Protestant gentleman coming into his place of business and stating that "There is a fellow in front of your door denouncing all Catholics." Mr. Riney edged into the crowd and after hearing a few of the derogatory remarks and insults, grabbed Roberts by the back of the neck and, delivering a few well placed kicks, warned him to leave town. At this juncture Rev. H. S. Bell, a Baptist minister of Lebanon, formerly of Buffalo, interfered and took sides with Roberts and later on was instrumental in having warrants sworn out for Mr. Riney and Lee Cuddy, charging them with disturbance of public worship, and in a Police Court trial Riney was fined $40 and costs and Cuddy $15 and costs, both pleading guilty to the charge. The Larue County Herald, published at Hodgenville, took sides with Roberts, the curbstone preacher, against Mr. Riney, a substantial business man, the Herald stating that public sentiment in the town of Hodgenville and that the majority favor abuse and vilification of their fellow citizens and taxpayers explains to the public at large why Hodgenville has decreased in population from 825 in 1900 to 744 in the census of 1910.

SUMMER SCHOOL.

The remarkable activity in all lines of summer school life, which characterized the stay of His Excellency the Most Rev. John Bonzano, D. D., Apostolic Delegate, at Cliff Haven during the past week, was followed by a brief period of rest after his departure. This period was broken on Sunday evening by the annual summer school concert and thereafter through the week a continuous programme of social events made bright the passing hours. The beautiful weather conditions which prevailed at Cliff Haven was an incentive to vacationists to take part in the more vigorous forms of outdoor life. The result was that many of the tournaments which had been postponed from earlier in this season on account of the hot weather were played off. The ladies' golf tournament for the Conway challenge cup was won by Miss Margaret Thornton, and the men's tennis doubles was won by Edward Weistand and William Dougherty. The lecture courses during the week were conducted by Arthur F. J. Remy, Ph. D., of Columbia University, New York, the Rev. Daniel J. Carney, of Melrose, Mass., and Miss Eleanor Payson, of Brooklyn.

NOBLE STAND

Taken by Honorary President of the Catholic Women's League.

The Feminist Movement Leaders Hold Views Decidedly Pagan.

Grant Demands and Christian Family Would Cease to Exist.

THINGS WOMEN SHOULD REALIZE

"The Feminist movement is being promoted by women whose views are decidedly pagan. If their demands were to be realized the Christian family would cease to exist and women's condition would lapse into paganism."

The above is the opinion of Mrs. Joseph Frey, Honorary President of the Catholic Women's League, which was formed recently at Buffalo as an auxiliary to the German Roman Catholic Central Verein. There is no little probability that Mrs. Frey has observed accurately present day tendencies and stated frankly and truthfully her convictions about the character of the more prominent leaders in the widespread movement euphonically styled the fuller emancipation of women. The question, as to what is her sphere in life, has no doubt been considerably obscured of late by the insistent demands of some of the sex for what they are pleased to believe "are rights." Woman suffrage is not the only matter concerned in this movement. We believe that this is bound to come and some time in the near future; as far as Catholics are concerned, the church has issued no definite pronouncement on this topic and in places where the privilege of voting has been granted equally to both sexes members of the hierarchy have encouraged women to make use of the ballot. With reference, however, to some other subjects, and especially those that affect matrimonial relations and social conditions, all Christians, irrespective of creed, should entertain the same views as does Mrs. Frey.

Much of the degradation and debasement brought upon the most sacred of contracts is due in no small part to the influence of the irreligious and pagan instincts and practices of woman without faith. These more than others have robbed matrimony of the character given it by our Blessed Lord and preserved for it by his church. If the stage and the street, the dance hall and the bathing beach, the salon and the school room present spectacles at times repulsive and indecent, upon whom rests the blame? If conditions are more repulsive now in certain quarters than they have ever been before in the memory of man, to whom are they attributable? If there is widespread criticism on the part of those who still retain a few shreds of decency, because of carnality in song, dance and dress, who have been the chief offenders in creating the decidedly pagan state of affairs? Mrs. Frey's opinion seems to be sound and her conclusion that women's condition would lapse into paganism were the demands of the promoters of the feminist movement realized is well warranted by the experiences of the past few years. It would be well for Catholic womanhood throughout the world to take to heart the statement of the Honorary President of this newly formed league. It would be well also for them and others to realize that it was not such agitation as is now going on for suffrage, nor such unbridled license in following the bent of passion or of pleasure as is current nowadays, nor such utter disregard for decency, conventional and propriety as is observable in street dance halls and theaters, that raised the sex from the mire in which it was wallowing in the garish days of a utilitarian paganism to the higher state where it was placed by Christian virtue, Christian practice and a Christian church.

FINERTY'S MONUMENT.

The memory of Col. John P. Finerty, soldier-journalist, foremost among Irish patriots of Chicago, was honored Saturday, when many thousands of his compatriots gathered at Grand Park and witnessed the unveiling by his daughter, Miss Vera Constance Finerty, of Charles J. Sullivan's cast of a monument to the famous Irish-American Nationalist, which will be erected in a leading park boulevard of Chicago. Col. Finerty was celebrated in modern Irish-American politics and had served as Congressman during the reconstruction period following the civil war. Chicago admirers of Col. Finerty, including the members of the Irish Fellowship Club and allied societies with Celtic affiliations, had selected August 15, Lady day, as the holiday event is known in Ireland and elsewhere throughout the world, as the fitting date upon which to celebrate the unveiling of the cast, but Saturday was chosen as the most propitious date, as being practically a half-holiday in Chicago.

Col. Finerty's activities in Chicago and elsewhere throughout the United States had long been recognized. He first came into public notice in Chicago and the Middle West when he went West as a war correspondent in the employ of the Chicago Times, he having enjoyed the confidence of Wilbur F. Storey, the picturesque editor of the Chicago Times, who employed him following his term as a Congressman at Washington. Col. Finerty followed the campaign of Gen. Custer against Sitting Bull and wrote the story of the Indian's capture by the Canadian mounted police near Maple creek, Sask. Returning to Chicago after the Indian uprisings, Col. Finerty resumed active journalism and later edited the CHITZEN, the organ of the Irish-American home rule forces. He enjoyed the friendship of such men as Charles Stewart Parnell, John Dillon, Michael Davitt and contemporaneous characters who fought the battle for Irish liberty until Gladstone gave his powerful recognition to the cause.

PARLIAMENT

Ends Session With Ministry in a Stronger and Better Position.

Liberals Weather Storm of Marconi Scandal and Retain Control.

Reasons For Refusal to Exhibit at Coming San Francisco Exposition.

POLITICS WILL BE GIVEN A REST

Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., reviewing the political situation in England, cables that the end of the Parliamentary session leaves the Liberal Ministry in as strong a position as at the beginning, and much stronger than some weeks ago. There were some moments so awkward during the cyclone of the Marconi scandal that even the most sanguine supporters of the Government felt that the whole game was up and that some indiscretions, however innocent, were going to drag down a powerful Ministry and several great measures. During this terrible time Lloyd-George, the most active and popular force in the Liberal ranks, was paralyzed, silent and nervous, and grew daily thinner, paler and older, while the Liberals in the country saw approach with panic the inevitable defeat. This was at first won to prevent the albatross trailing along the ground. It signifies chastity, and is now taken to represent the ropes with which the soldiers bound Jesus in the garden, or the cords with which He was tied to the column for the scourging, or the whips with which He was scourged.

The mantle, a small silk ornament worn on the arm of the priest, was originally used as a handkerchief. Then it became a costly serviette for presenting or receiving anything, being folded over the left arm when it was not in actual use. In the twelfth century its use was restricted to the mass. It now calls to mind the cords with which our Lord was bound.

The stole was once a piece of fine linen worn round the neck and used by persons of rank for wiping the face, and spread by women at prayer over the head and shoulders, falling round the body like a veil. The stole worn by ecclesiastics (from the fourth century at least) was bordered with streaks of purple, and when in course of time its dimensions were contracted these ornaments were retained as marks of honor, while the plain linen portions were cut away, so that it was reduced to a band which surrounded the neck and fell down below the knees on both sides of the body. It represents the cross our Lord had to carry, and denotes the white robe of sanctifying grace with which one must be clothed before acquiring immortality.

The chasuble was originally the garment worn over the other clothes. We can trace its use in the church back to the beginning of the sixth century. It was then a very large vestment completely covering the body with only an opening at the top for the head. In the eleventh century its shape was altered, the sides being opened to allow the priest greater freedom in the use of his hands. This beautiful form of the chasuble is known as the Gothic; it was the only shape in use from the eleventh to the sixteenth centuries, and is still used in many parts of Europe. After the sixteenth century the chasuble was still further reduced in size and was opened at the sides.

The chasuble represents the garments in which our Lord was clothed when He was derided as King of the Jews. The colors now recognized by the Roman liturgy are white, red, green, purple and black, each with its own symbolic meaning. White is the symbol of purity and joy, light and glory. White vestments are therefore appropriately used on feasts of the Blessed Trinity, of our Lord (when we are not directly commemorating his passion and death), of the angels, and of such saints as were confessors of the faith, virgins, penitents and widows. It is also "the natural color for all feasts which commemorate the sweet memory of the Immaculate Virgin Mary, the flower of wondrous brightness, the heavenly lily of resplendent beauty, the spotless maiden."

MOTHER PROVINCIAL.

At a chapter held week before last Sister M. Margaret, of St. Joseph's Convent, Utica, N. Y., was chosen Mother Provincial of the Order of Franciscan Sisters in the United States and all the islands in the Pacific where the Franciscans are established. The election took place in the mother house in Syracuse. Mother M. Margaret will be stationed in Syracuse for an indefinite period. Mother Margaret and her advisors are now considering the transfers to be made and other business of the order. During her term in office she will visit every school, convent and hospital in charge of the Sisters of her order.

VESTMENTS

Worn During Sacrifice of the Mass and What They Signify.

Church Has Retained Garments For Her Own Special Worship.

They Represent Some Incident in Our Lord's Sacrificial Sufferings.

ARE LOOKED UPON AS SACRED

The Council of Trent informs us that the vestments worn at mass were introduced by apostolic ordinance and tradition. The Apostles, it seems, selected for this purpose the very best article of dress worn at the time by Roman civilians of rank. Thus, for example, our present-day alb is the festival tunic worn by civilians of the Roman empire down to the fifth and sixth centuries; the chasuble is the cloak worn at the same period on journeys or when walking. "When in the course of time ordinary attire underwent a complete change, the church retained these garments for her own sacred worship. They did not lose their original character, but became the distinctive dress of the servants of the altar." And when these garments were once adopted for liturgical services, they were looked upon as sacred, assumed a meaning in accordance with their use, and were taken to represent some incident in our Lord's sacrificial sufferings.

The amice was originally a covering for the head and shoulders. It now represents the cloth with which the soldiers blindfolded Christ, while they mocked Him, saying: "Prophesy, who is it that struck thee?" The aly, a tunic or inner garment of linen, once worn by Jewish priests, and then by Christian priests from the earliest days. It represents the white garment in which King Herod and his court mockingly clothed our Lord, treating Him as a fool. Its whiteness reminds the priest of the purity of conscience which should adorn his life.

The girdle, a linen or silken cord which gathers the alb at the waist, was at first worn to prevent the alb from trailing along the ground. It signifies chastity, and is now taken to represent the ropes with which the soldiers bound Jesus in the garden, or the cords with which He was tied to the column for the scourging, or the whips with which He was scourged.

The maniple, a small silk ornament worn on the arm of the priest, was originally used as a handkerchief. Then it became a costly serviette for presenting or receiving anything, being folded over the left arm when it was not in actual use. In the twelfth century its use was restricted to the mass. It now calls to mind the cords with which our Lord was bound.

The stole was once a piece of fine linen worn round the neck and used by persons of rank for wiping the face, and spread by women at prayer over the head and shoulders, falling round the body like a veil. The stole worn by ecclesiastics (from the fourth century at least) was bordered with streaks of purple, and when in course of time its dimensions were contracted these ornaments were retained as marks of honor, while the plain linen portions were cut away, so that it was reduced to a band which surrounded the neck and fell down below the knees on both sides of the body. It is also "the natural color for all feasts which commemorate the sweet memory of the Immaculate Virgin Mary, the flower of wondrous brightness, the heavenly lily of resplendent beauty, the spotless maiden."

John, who indeed suffered all the pangs of martyrdom, but whose chief glory is the spotless purity that gained him the special friendship of his Master.

Green, the color of nature in spring, is the fit symbol of hope, and since our hope of gaining eternal life is based on Christ's resurrection, green is the distinctive color of the Sundays between Epiphany and Septuagesima, Pentecost and Advent, which have no special festive or sorrowful character.

Purple in the eyes of the church is the type of penance, humility, earnest prayer and intense sorrow. Hence it is prescribed for days of penance, such as Advent, Lent, Vigils, Rogation and Ember days, for the solemn blessings on Candlemas day, Ash Wednesday and Palm Sunday.

Black, the color of sorrow, though not of sorrow without hope, is most fittingly used on Good Friday and in offices for the dead.

A. O. H. PICNIC.

An unusually good representation of the County Board delegates was present at the meeting of that Hibernian body on Wednesday evening at Bertrand Hall, when final reports were heard from the different divisions for the reunion and picnic to be given at Phoenix Hill Park next Tuesday, and President William J. Connelly expressed his gratification at the interest being manifested. Walter Cusick, on behalf of Division 1, reported that they were having a nice sale of tickets and that he and President Thomas Tarry had completed arrangements for the holding of all liquid refreshments and cigars. James Welsh, Dan O'Keefe and John T. Kearney reported that Division 2 would handle the ice cream stand and would have a few volunteer lady workers to assist them. President Hugh Hourigan, of Division 3, stated that he had secured enough workers from his division to handle the hot office and gate so that there would be only a short stay on duty for each worker. Thomas Langan, of Division 4, reported that Collins' orchestra had arranged a special programme of Irish dance music which included several old-fashioned quadrilles and break-downs that are always a treat to young and old. President John H. Hennessy, of Division 4, appointed the following Dance Hall Committee: L. J. Meany, Fred Mooney, Henry Malone, R. J. Hennessy, Joseph Kelly, James Eilburn, John Callahan, Leo Rilly and Thomas Farrell. The Ladies' Auxiliary have been rapidly selling their allotted amount of tickets and claim that they will outsell the members of the four men's divisions, which is quite a boast, and judging from a banner Hibernian crowd is expected to throng the hall on next Tuesday evening, meeting old friends and acquaintances. To quote a regular attendant at A. O. H. affairs, who said the following next tribune: "It seems that everyone knows everyone else at Hibernian gatherings and that more sincere friendship is witnessed than at any other like affair." Invitations have been extended to the city and county officials, many having already expressed their intention of being present, in addition to many of the clergy.

HEARTILY WELCOMED.

Rev. Francis Felten and Robert T. Burke, who were elected Grand Chaplain and Grand President of the Y. M. I. Atlantic Jurisdiction at Pittsburgh last week; Dan J. Hennessy, who represented Trinity Council, and Mackin Council delegates were given an enthusiastic reception at Mackin's meeting Monday night. Their reports and the addresses of Father Felten, Dr. J. A. Casper and others evoked hearty applause and stimulated a new interest in the Y. M. I. Besides the routine work plans were inaugurated for the anniversary and other celebrations, which indicate that there will be lively times at the club house during the fall months. A notable event will be the reception and entertainment in honor of the Grand officers, delegates to the convention and the three Falls City councils, arrangements for which are now under way.

CUSICK THE TAILOR.

Martin J. Cusick, the well known merchant tailor, has secured nice quarters in the new Stark building, Fourth and Walnut, where he will have a formal opening and exhibit a large stock of the latest and most up-to-date goods for men's wear. Since his youth Martin Cusick has been identified with the tailoring trade of Louisville and his reputation as a cutter is nation-wide. For some years past he has been head of the firm of Cusick & Kraemer, which has been dissolved by mutual consent. In his new quarters he is certain to continue his large and successful business.

WILL MAKE GOOD.

The greater part of the time of the meeting of Division 1, A. O. H., Tuesday night, was taken up by the Hibernian reunion and picnic to be given at Phoenix Hill Park next Tuesday. President Tarry occupied the chair and announced the duties assigned the members of Division 1, who responded that they would be there and make good. Vice President Daniel McCarthy reported the County Board proceedings and urged the delegates to be present at the meeting to be held Wednesday night at Bertrand Hall. When the routine business had been transacted interesting talks were made by Treasurer Thomas Keenan and Secretaries Walter Cusick and Joe Farrell, who pointed out the opportunity offered Division 1 and called upon all members to lend their efforts to make the reunion a success. Chairman Cleary again had no claims to present, leaving a nice sum to be placed in the treasury.

CAMPAIGN

Progressive Committee Composed of Former Democratic Beneficiaries.

Ex-Democrats Now Interested in Political Reform Administrations.

Col. Callahan Now at the Head of McDermott Boom For Governor.

PFLANZ AIDING PROGRESSIVES

The local Progressives announced the appointment of their Executive Committee for the coming November election, and among the list were W. W. Davies, former Chairman of the Board of Public Safety under a Democratic administration; Laban Phelps, former Democratic State Senator, and ex-Fire Chief Philmore Tyson, who was connected with the fire department under Democratic reign for twenty-seven years and four years under Republican rule. The above list of ex-Democrats, with Scott Newman, ex-contractor under Democratic reign, and Col. J. H. Haager, Police Chief under the same rule, are expected to direct and manage the Progressive campaign, simply because they want to save the great common people and the city of Louisville from Democratic rule, which has degenerated so much since they were pulled away from the pie counter, and it is a continual mystery to the above patriotic gentlemen how the city machinery continues to go around and the taxpayers prosper without their hand at the helm. It is expected that the Herald will feature them in its political articles as the Democrats who have been converted from the errors of their way and are now out for reform strictly, without any promise of office in case of Progressive success. Other aides to the Progressive campaign will be ex-Police Capt. Robert J. Foster, ex-Sergeant Sam Owens and several other "ex's" of less celebrity.

The Camden barbecue at Spring Hill the other day produced a couple of gubernatorial booms, among them being Agricultural Commissioner J. C. Newman and our own Edward J. McDermott, who is being groomed by Col. P. H. Callahan, who it was rumored would contest the local Congressional nomination with Swager Sherley next year, but will probably be at the head of Gov. McDermott's campaign committee. Although practically a new-comer in the political game, Col. Callahan cut his eye teeth early and is now a finished politician, his campaign work in 1911 for the Democratic State ticket attracting wide attention. Judge Robert W. Bingham is also being mentioned as a possible candidate for the Democratic Congressional nomination next year. Gov. McCleary was also present at the big barbecue and is now busy pushing his candidacy for the Senatorial nomination, which will be the feature race in next year's August primary, and the present Governor is endeavoring to form a winning combination early in the race.

The Pfanz-Poster contest case is still engrossing the attention of politicians, and Judge Gordon's decision in regard to the demurrer filed by Mr. Foster's attorneys is being awaited with interest. In the meantime the Louisville Herald is still advocating Mr. Pfanz's cause, hoping thereby to secure campaign material for the Progressive party, as the Herald, in common with the Progressive leaders, realizes that their ticket nominated recently is entirely too light to attract the attention of the voters from any standpoint. Mr. Pfanz's latest card has further widened the breach between him and his former supporters, who can see nothing in his contest, but an effort to win the Democratic party, which has treated him so kindly in the past, he having been the recipient of honors at the party's hand for the past twenty-one years, and his plea for reform in elections comes a little late, especially at the outcome of his first defeat in a party primary. The Kentucky Irish American, in common with other friends of Mr. Pfanz, regrets his unwise step, and has heartily and unanimously commented that he is making a serious mistake in becoming an ally of attempted wreckers of the party. As stated previously, this was not the first election in which he participated in which there were evidences of corruption, and it comes with bad grace at this particular time.

GARDEN PARTY AND SUPPER.

The ladies of St. Brigid's parish will give a two days' garden party next Tuesday and Wednesday on the church grounds, Hepburn and Baxter avenue. They will also serve an old-fashioned supper on both evenings from 5 to 8 o'clock in the basement of the new church, and have prepared a bill of fare that is sure to please the inner man. In addition to the supper there will be a fine programme of amusements and an abundance of light refreshments of all kinds. Those who attend are assured in advance a pleasant evening by the members of Father Janssens' congregation, who have a reputation for genuine hospitality. The grounds are reached by three car lines.

CATHOLIC SCRIPTURES.

If there are any who really think that the Catholic church forbids its members to read the Bible, let them ask at any Catholic bookseller's for a Catholic Bible. Perhaps they are unaware that the Bible has been transmitted to them by the monastic copyists of the ages before the printing press; that the church has always striven to preserve the purity of the text and to encourage Biblical studies; that Catholic vernacular versions preceded the Protestant, and that selections from the Scriptures are read in church in the vernacular. Catholic editions must also have the approval of a Bishop as a safeguard against errors of translation and comment.

FOLLOW THIS ADVICE.

It will soon be school time. The vacation days will be over in less than two weeks. The serious matter of seeing to the education of the hearts and minds of boys and girls, young men and young women, will confront parents and guardians. Don't make the mistake of letting any consideration tempt you to send those in your care to a non-Catholic school. In our day and age, where and how and by whom a child is educated is more important than ever. Send them where their hearts and souls will get consideration as well as their mental development. This is the advice given by one of our exchanges, and it would be profitable to Catholics if they followed it in spirit and letter.

NO CATHOLIC PARTY.

Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, speaking on Sunday at the Federation convention in Milwaukee, declared that Catholics have no intention whatsoever to form a political party. We have no friends to reward and no enemies to punish, so as to make us flock by ourselves in the pursuit of self interests. We do not desire to be separated from the great body of American citizens. We are free to be Democrats, Republicans or Progressives, every one according to his own convictions, and we are perfectly free to follow out any purely political principle or policy now before the American people without let or hindrance from anybody. In the few matters which involve faith or morals we should be guided by Catholic principles, but in the wide field of public affairs entirely secular every Catholic may do and vote as he himself thinks to be best for the public welfare. We want no Catholic party and we hope that there will be no Methodist party, no Hebrew party, no denominational party of any kind. We Americans should not split up on religious lines. The constitution requires that there shall be no religious test for public office. The religious line therefore should not be drawn for or against any one. The question to be asked about candidates should be these only: Is he competent? Is he trustworthy? Whether he is a Baptist or a Presbyterian, a Mason or a Knight Templar, a member of the B'nai B'rith or a member of the K. C., should not be asked. The principles of civil and religious liberty should be observed and enjoyed by all American citizens.

SENSIBLE.

Miss Minnie Bronson, noted for her womanly sense, discussing the question, "Is woman suffrage a healthy thought?" expresses the belief that a large proportion of those who advocate woman suffrage do so because they regard it as part of a general political progress, the last stage in a democratic form of government, and to any one who does not allow herself to think what is involved in the assertion that woman is entitled to the franchise because man has secured it this view seems sufficient for a whole hearted support of the cause. But before such a stupendous governmental change as woman suffrage is accepted as a part of progress and democracy it is wise to determine first whether it is progressive in a beneficial sense of the word, whether it may not be diverging instead of progressing, even though it may seem to be merely the extension of a part already tried. Also if a political principle, whether democratic or not, carried to its logical conclusion, lands women in a state of society which would not be a good state of society, then the principle, even if democratic, had better not be carried to such a conclusion. In other words, conferring political power on women in the name and intention of progress and democracy does not establish that proceeding as salutary. It is quite possible that the extension of the franchise to women, with all that it implies, may have such far reaching consequences that they will some day stampede back on their track in an effort to undo what they have done in a blind pursuit of progress.

RESULT NOT FEARED.

Honest Protestants should take the Catholic church at what she professes to be in her authoritative confessions, not try to make her out what she is not. We judge of the law of the land by its statutes. We even take its own tribunals' interpretation of these statutes. Why, then, controvert the teaching of the Catholic church from any but her own sources? She does not deceive, she does not want to conceal anything, she can give a reason and the best of reasons for her faith. Why, then, take the testimony of her enemies about her, and why, in decency's name, permit the weeds she has thrown from her garden to speak for her life, teachings or aspirations? It is not fair—Protestants want to be fair, we think. Let them only consider this honest invitation then and examine what the Catholic church is honestly. We do not fear the result. These declarations, made by our neighboring contemporary, the Christian Year, are truthful and deserve widespread publicity for the good they will effect.

There is good reason to believe that Germany will not be biased by England's action in refusing to exhibit at the Panama Exposition. This belief is based on the fact that already many German manufacturers have given assurance that they will take part with exhibits.

With its last issue the Toledo Record began its ninth year, and congratulations are extended Manager and Editor James Nolan. The Record has well deserved the liberal support accorded it, which should continue and increase.

There was a large attendance at all the Catholic churches in Louisville on the Feast of the Assumption, which shows that our people are imbued with the true spirit of religion.

GARDEN PARTY WITH SUPPER.

The ladies of the parish of the Sacred Heart Retreat will give a delightful garden party, with euchre, lotto and good, old-time country supper, next Tuesday afternoon and evening at the residence of Mrs. Boone Gardiner, at Bardstown road and Gardiner lane, where the Kentucky nurseries have been thrown open to the Passionist fathers and their friends. Euchre and lotto will be played at 4 and 8 o'clock and many valuable prizes will be awarded. There will be good music and other amusements in plenty to entertain both young and old. Any one who enjoys a trip to the country with the prospect of good company and a bounteous supper to make the evening pleasant will do well to attend this garden party Tuesday. Take the Jefferson car to the city limits, where automobiles and other conveyances will take visitors to the beautiful grounds. All friends of the Sacred Heart Retreat and the new school are cordially invited and promised a good time.

BUSINESS TRAINING.

Creager's Business School, Second and Breckinridge, though not an old school, takes rank with Louisville's most proficient educational institutions. Parents who have sons or daughters seeking a business education will find here taught the latest and most widely approved methods. Prof. Creager offers courses in bookkeeping, penmanship, rapid calculation, the adding machine, spelling, shorthand, typewriting, correspondence, filing, letter-press work, duplicating and other commercial subjects. Pupils may take all or as many of these subjects as desired, and have the privilege of paying monthly without being bound by contracts. Creager's graduates have attained conspicuous positions in the business community, and their success is that school's highest recommendation. Prof. Creager has prepared for a considerable enrollment this season and will conduct both day and night sessions throughout the year.

KEEFE AS HOST.

The Louisville and New Albany delegates to the Grand Council convention of the Y. M. C. A., held at Pittsburgh last week, are loud in their praises of P. H. Keefe, former Grand President, who did the honors for the visitors and saw that they were entertained every minute during their stay and personally escorted them to the great Heinz plant, Forbes Field ball park, and other places of interest, and the slogan of the local boys is that nothing is too good for Keefe when he visits Louisville. Dr. James Casper, who was one of the delegates from Mackinac Council, states that before his next trip out of town he intends to join the A. O. H., as his experience in Pittsburgh convinced him that the Hibernians are the first word in hospitality.

GOOD WOMAN GONE.

Mrs. Martin Doolan, one of the oldest residents of Limerick and a pioneer member of the Dominican church, died Wednesday morning at the family residence, 719 West St. Catherine street, after a short illness. The funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand's church yesterday morning at 8:30, with interment in St. Louis cemetery.

An initiation has strengthened the council at Esbon, Kan.

About 125 are expected to take the fourth at El Reno on Sunday, October 12.

Great preparations are being made for the Oklahoma State convention at El Reno on October 13.

Positive announcement has been made that the fourth degree will be exemplified in Cincinnati on the first or third Sunday in October.

Hon. James Manahan, of Minneapolis, Congressman at large from Minnesota, is a Knight of Columbus. He never before held public office. Forty candidates were piloted over the road that leads to Knighthood last Sunday at Jonesboro, Ark., where a new council was instituted.

WELCOME VISITOR.

Jerry Walsh, formerly of this city but for many years past holding a responsible position in the Government Printing Office at Washington, was a caller at the Kentucky Irish American office on Wednesday. He was en route to the nation's capital after a visit with his brother, Attorney Thomas Walsh, to their old home in Indiana. Appearances indicate that Washington life agrees with Jerry, who looks hale and hearty and no older than when he set type in Louisville in the eighties.

BOTH BARRYS HOME.

John J. Barry, the local Democratic leader, and brother, Ed Barry, our popular County Assessor, and their families returned today from a two weeks' stay at Dawson Springs, where this popular duo of brothers went to recuperate after their strenuous work in behalf of George Schlegel for the County Assessor nomination in the recent primary.

GOES TO NEBRASKA.

Sister Mary Raymond, of the Dominican order, who has been here during the vacation period, left Tuesday for Hastings, Neb., where she taught school last year. Before entering the convent Sister Mary Raymond was Miss Anna Hines and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Hines, of South Sixth street, where many of her girl friends called on her during her stay.

LAWN FETE.

Monday and Tuesday evenings there will be a lawn fete on the church grounds, Twenty-seventh and Chestnut, for the benefit of St. Charles Borromeo church, of which the Rev. Charles P. Raffo is pastor. The ladies of the congregation will serve supper each evening from 5 to 8 o'clock. Those who attend will certainly spend an enjoyable evening.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM.

The Kentucky Irish American would again call to the attention of its readers that any person or persons who go around soliciting alms for charitable purposes should have credentials from the Bishop or Vicar General granting them permission to do so. Several homes have been visited recently by solicitors whose representations remain unverified.

MIDSUMMER FESTIVAL.

The ladies of the Altar Society of St. James church will give a midsummer festival on the grounds of Lawrence Kellner next Wednesday afternoon and evening, with euchre and lotto in the afternoon at 3 and in the evening at 8. An elegant Dutch supper will be served throughout the afternoon and evening. The

PRIOR ON VACATION.
 Very Rev. Father T. S. McGovern,
 prior of St. Louis Bertrand's church, left Monday evening on a visit to his mother in New York City, where he expects to remain for about ten days.

FROM OVER THE POND.
 Leo Henegan, of Bradford, England, arrived in Louisville the first of the week and is the guest of his cousin, Col. Joe P. McGinn, 513 West Chestnut street. He is a young man and has a number of other relatives
 whom he will visit while here.

BURKE OUT AGAIN.
 J. Hunter Burke, the attorney, is able to be out again after a four weeks' illness of appendicitis, though still rather weak from the effects of the operation performed at Sta.
 Mary and Elizabeth Hospital.

SOJOURNING AT MARTINSVILLE.
 Roger Nohalty, leader of the Democracy in the West End, left Wednesday for Martinsville, Ind., where he will enjoy a two weeks'
 season of rest and recreation.

READ FIRST MASS.
 The Rev. Father John P. Stoesser,
 a native of New Albany and a nephew of Jacob and Herman Fein, of that city, who has just been ordained to the Catholic priesthood, celebrated his first mass last Sunday in St.
 Aloysius church, Chicago. Jacob Fein
 and his brother, the Rev. Father H.
 Fein, of Armstrong, Ind., went to Chicago to be present and receive the young priest's blessing.

DOWN IN ALABAMA.
 James Riley, Will O'Keefe and William J. Hines left Sunday for Mobile, Ala., where they will be employed for a couple of weeks on tariff reports for the Interstate Commerce Commission. In keeping with the sentiment of the popular song, they left on "The Midnight
 Choo-Choo That Leaves for Alabama."

PLAN GREAT STATE FAIR.
 Chairman J. W. Newman and Secretary J. L. Dent have issued the programme for the Kentucky State Fair, to be held in Louisville from September 15 to 20. From the number of entries already received and the interest manifested throughout the State this will be the greatest and most successful fair ever held in Kentucky. Every day and night has been made special, and Friday, September 19, will be Irish-American night, with William J. O'Hern as Chairman.

COLONELS GO AWAY.
 After this afternoon's game with Indianapolis the Louisville team will begin practically another swing around the whole circuit, with the exception of three games at home on September 2, 3 and 4 with Toledo.
 Tomorrow the Colonels play in Toledo, going from there to Columbus and Indianapolis in turn, then comes the three games at home and then a visit to Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul in this coming week, their last trip abroad, they then coming home September 19 to play their final series with the four Western clubs, Milwaukee closing the season here September 29. It is practically a certainty that the Colonels will finish in the first division, this being a pleasing reversal from the last three years, and Owner Wathen has more than made good with the fans, who have witnessed a high class article of ball by a team that did not quit until the last man was out, and the appreciation of the fans has been shown by their splendid attendance, which will compare favorably with cities of the major leagues with even larger populations.

GRATIFYING STATISTICS.
 Several gratifying facts regarding the condition of Ireland are contained in the report of the Registrar-General for Ireland for 1912. They are stated
 as follows:
 Lowest annual death rate for Ireland since 1871, viz., 16.46 per 1,000. Lowest annual death rate from tuberculous disease on record, viz., 2.15 per 1,000. Increase of 1,102
 in population in the middle of 1912, there being 1,102 more births than deaths and emigrants during the year.
 Decrease in infant mortality from 94 per 1,000 births in 1911 to 86 per 1,000 in 1912. This is the lowest infant mortality recorded for Ireland.
 The marriage rate in Ireland during 1912 was 5.31 per 1,000 of the population, being a decrease of 0.04
 compared with 1911; the birth rate was 23 per 1,000 of the population, being 0.2 lower than that of the preceding year. The percentage of persons who married under age is far below the corresponding percentage in England and Scotland.

DOING HEROINE'S WORK.
 The Hon. Alvaria Brodick, sister of Viscount Middleton, is doing a heroine's work among the peasantry of Kerry. She is living in a district twenty odd miles from the railroad and unprovided with a hospital.
 Some time ago she began the construction of a hospital, but although she sold her own furniture, china
 and jewelry she had to stop operations for lack of funds. She made a public appeal for money, which has now enabled her to resume her work. Unlike some organizers who live on the fat of the land through their charitable operations, Miss Brodick has reduced her living expenses to the smallest possible sum.

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.
 The fashionable figure shows the normal waistline.
 A great deal of crochet work is being used just now.
 Sashes are the mode and more, for
 they are used on everything.
 Lace tunics may be regarded as the very latest of fashion's caprices.
 Pale blue tulle veils are very much worn by women of rich complexions.
 Ruchings of all sorts for the adornment of the neck retain their popularity.
 Buttons seem to be the predomi-nating note in waists for early fall wear.
 The pretty froon petticoat,
 made of light transparent materials,
 still holds favor.
 The wearing of dainty underwear
 is a refinement practiced by the con-noisseur in the art of dress.
 Hats with figured tulle crowns and upstanding brims of Chantilly lace
 are among the prettiest now seen.
 For youthful faces there are shown some darling sailor hats made of light tulle, light shades always being selected.
 The forecast from Paris is that styles are to change but slightly and there is to be nothing sensational in the coming modes.
 Black and white checked costumes trimmed with red are for the moment
 among the best liked tailor clothes
 and are pretty and chic.

CONGRESS IN LOURDES.
 Official notice has been received that the International Eucharistic Congress will be held in Lourdes next year.

REPLICA OF VATICAN.
 The Catholic center in the San Francisco exposition grounds will be known as the Vatican, and will be a replica of it.

BISHOP O'BRIEN.
 Right Rev. Mgr. M. J. O'Brien
 will be consecrated Bishop of Peterboro, Ont., in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Peterboro, on Wednesday, September 24, by Mgr. Stagni, Apostolic Delegate to Canada.

WORLD'S RECORD.
 Patrick Ryan, of the New York
 Irish-American Athletic Club, at Celtic Park last Sunday threw the sixteen-pound hammer a distance of 189 feet 6 1/4 inches, establishing a new world's record for this event.
 The former record, 187 feet 4 inches, was made by the Olympic and world's champion, Matt McGrath, October 29, 1911.

KAISER GIVES PULPIT.
 The Kaiser has just added to his numerous benefactions to the church in the empire by the gift of a magnificent Byzantine pulpit to the Collegiate church of Aachen, where rests
 the body of Charlemagne. The imperial gift was inaugurated in the presence of numerous clergy and representatives of the various civil authorities. The pulpit is of multicolored marbles sculptured after the design of the most distinguished German scholars in perfect keeping with the historic edifice in which thirty chiefs of the Holy Roman Empire have been crowned.

STARTS FOR VIENNA.
 Frederick Courtland Penfield, of Germantown, Pa., is on his way to Vienna, where he will hold down the position of Ambassador to Austria from the United States. "I want to make myself liked by the Austrian-Hungarian people," he said, before sailing. "I want to represent the United States with honor and dignity and with the best interests of both the great nations at heart."
 When Mr. Penfield was appointed by President Cleveland to his first post
 as Consul General at Cairo his consular reports were literary gems, and he was the first diplomat to attempt style in dishing up his reports.

SINISTER ADVICE.
 The exploits of the Industrial Workers of the World in Paterson and, but lately, in the California hop fields, as well as the reckless utterances in which their leaders glory,
 are giving that organization a species of celebrity which, when the American people become thoroughly aroused on the subject, is not likely to prove very healthy to the men who enjoy it. Their profession is love of humanity; but their plain object is mischief. It is only too plain that they hate our American institutions,
 and would destroy them if they could.
 While they claim that their only concern is to benefit the toiling masses, even trade unionism in its conventional form seems to be a target for their malignant antipathy.
 The aims and methods of the I.
 W. W. could not be better illustrated than by reference to the amazing expressions of Tom Mann, an English leader of the order, who is now conducting an agitation in Paterson, N.
 J. In a speech from a public platform to members of the I. W. W. and their sympathizers, he warned his hearers not to expect to derive any permanent or substantial advantages from the elections of their own leaders and sympathizers to places of influence and authority in legislative bodies. "Once you do it," he said, "they begin to think like other persons in power, and they never help the cause of labor."
 The worst of the Anarchists, including John Most and Emma Goldman, never offered more incendiary counsel than this. It's plain meaning is that his hearers should organize to satisfy their grievances without the law and against the law, instead of within the law and through the law. In this country the one orderly and dependable reliance for the remedy of existing evils is the ballot. In this English firebrand urges his hearers to discard this reliance. "That is what his admonition amounts to. When he advises his hearers not to elect their representatives to legislative bodies, he condemns and rejects the only peaceful agency we have in this country for executing the popular will and establishing political and social reforms. The alternative of course is brute force. Thus Tom Mann writes himself down as a deliberate fomenter of violence and champion of anarchy. The American people will not patiently endure very much of that kind of talk.

WHAT PAT THOUGHT.
 A traveler was boasting to an Irishman about the speed of English trains.
 "Why, Pat," said the traveler,
 "we run our trains so fast that the telegraph poles look like a continuous fence."
 "Do they now?" said Pat. "Well,
 sir, I was now day on a train in Ireland, and as we passed first a field of turnips, then a row of carrots,
 then a row of cabbage, and then a large pond of water, we were going that fast I thought it was broth!"

RAISIN BREAD.
 Four cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup sugar, three eggs, one and one-half cups of milk, one-half package seedless raisins. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar several times, then stir in raisins. Add milk and eggs to flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and raisins, and bake
 one hour in a slow oven.

THEY LEAD.
 Maryland has 6,896 more females

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

The National Board convened Wednesday at Atlantic City.

1. Our last report was that they are improving and hope to be at the reunion next Tuesday.

With all the auxiliary members working for the coming reunion, its success is doubly assured.

Our order has been fortunately free from illness among its members during the recent heated weather.

The Hibernians and Ladies' Auxiliary of Portland, Ore., will gather tomorrow at Crystal Lake Park for their annual reunion.

County and division officers should assist County President Welsh in the work of compiling the history of the order in Kentucky.

Division 7 of Minneapolis will give a literary entertainment and Irish dancing contest for the benefit of the Pro-Cathedral fund.

For the purpose of swelling their building fund the Hibernians of Manchester, N. H., will hold a grand carnival the last week in October.

Rev. Peter A. Butler, of Sigo, was given a farewell reception by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Providence, R. I., before his departure for Ireland.

Every division can "boost" its treasury by the sale of tickets for the Phoenix Hill reunion. This is an opportunity offered all members to do something for the order.

Hibernians of Rice county, Minn., had a successful harvest festival at Shieldsville. Celtic sports and games, baseball game and horse races featured the programme.

St. Louis City employers of men of Irish birth or extraction gave them a half holiday so that there might be a large attendance at the Hibernian celebration at Riverside Park.

Members of Division 1 had a hearty greeting from Martin J. Gavr on his return from French Lick Springs, where he spent two weeks and greatly benefited his health.

Hibernians throughout the city will regret to learn of the reported illness of Thomas Shelley, a pioneer member of the order, and Thomas Lawler, former Treasurer of Division 1 of New Albany held its annual picnic Wednesday at Glenwood Park. With euchre, dancing and other amusements features there was a large attendance and good time for everybody.

Hudson county, which includes Jersey City, has twenty-six divisions. New Jersey Hibernians concur with the German-American Alliance for the formation of a State organization that will include all the Irish-American and German-American societies throughout the State.

Misses Katie Noan, Fannie Kennedy, Maggie Hourigan, Bertha King, Mary Corcoran and Mrs. Dan Dougherty and Mrs. James Bennett, of the Ladies' Auxiliary, will form the Executive Committee from that society for the Hibernian reunion. They are doing effective work and some surprises may be looked for.

The O'Dea history of the order will be a most valuable publication. The intention is to have a complete record of the order in every State in the Union from the time first founded until the present date. This is a great work, but Mr. O'Dea is equal to the task. Officers and members can greatly assist him by furnishing data and statistics.

CLOSES PICNIC SEASON.

The people of St. Francis of Assisi parish are busy preparing for the all-day picnic, the last of the season, to be given on September 3 on the spacious grounds surrounding their church on the Bardstown road, near Douglas boulevard. There will be games and races, also a fish pond to amuse the children an apron booth, candy wheel and other attractions for the grown people. An excellent dinner and a good chicken supper will be served by the ladies of the parish, who have the reputation of serving meals on such occasions that are unsurpassed. All kinds of refreshments will be served and music will enliven the occasion. Admission will be free and everybody and their family will be welcome. The Jefferson street and Bardstown road cars pass the grounds.

TRINITY COUNCIL.

Trinity Council had a good meeting Monday night, and the members present manifested interest and enthusiasm when C. Edward Mueller reported the proceedings of the A. A. laudic jurisdiction convention held in Pittsburgh. In the absence of Vic Ecker and James B. Kelly, the meeting was called to order and presided over by Vice President Henry Dries. Several interesting reports were submitted, especially that of the committee having charge of the Mammoth Cave excursion, which predicted that this will eclipse all previous trips in point of attendance and management. A meeting of this committee was called for Wednesday night, when arrangements were concluded for refreshments on the special train and all minor details perfected.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., has completed all details for the greatest excursion on Sunday, August 31, that ever visited the famous Mammoth Cave. The train will leave Union Station, Tenth and Broadway, at 9 o'clock in the morning and arrive home at 10:15 at night. The cost of the round trip has been placed at $5.50. This includes railroad fare, an excellent dinner at the hotel and cave fees. Both the L. and N. railroad and the Mammoth Cave management are lending Trinity Council every assistance to make this a memorable and delightful excursion. Many parties have been formed and there is a brisk demand for tickets, which can be secured at the L. and N. ticket office. The committee has made special arrangements for refreshments on the train returning and guarantee all a time to be pleasantly remembered.

Henry Nieder, Sr., one of Louisville's most widely known German Catholic business men and a lifelong member of St. Martin's church, died Sunday morning at his home, 825 East Broadway. Since his boyhood he had conducted the grocery and hardware business at Shelby and Broadway, and for over thirty years had been a member of the St. Joseph's Orphan Society and the St. Martin's Men's Society. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Krupp Nieder; three sisters, Mrs. H. Bude, Mrs. Henry Jansen and Mrs. J. C. Kirchdorfer, and four sons, Frank, Henry, Jr., William and George Nieder. The funeral was held Tuesday morning, Rev. Father Ohle being the celebrant of the solemn high mass of requiem.

St. Ann's church lost one of its old and respected members when Joseph Schoenemann, 1802 South Seventh street, passed away Monday evening. Deceased was a successful blacksmith and for twenty-four years conducted a shop at Seventh and Hill streets. He is survived by his wife, three sons, Joseph, George and Carl Schoenemann, and one brother. The funeral services were held Thursday morning with solemn mass of requiem at St. Ann's, the church being filled with mourning friends and relatives.

Funeral services over the remains of John Lufel were held Thursday morning in the Cathedral, and the large attendance of mourning relatives and friends indicated the widespread sorrow his death occasioned. For many years a resident of this city, he was prominent and respected in Italian social and business circles, and was a liberal contributor to many charities. Surviving him are his widow and three sons, to whom is extended heartfelt sympathy.

CLOSING SUMMER FESTIVAL.

All is in readiness for the final closing of the summer festival and fête for the benefit of Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital. It will be held next Wednesday on the hospital grounds, and a cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the good Sisters and their most worthy institution to attend. Numerous committees of ladies and gentlemen have been working energetically in the preparations for this festival and a successful outcome is hoped for by them all. The many handsome and valuable articles were awarded and undisposed of at the June festival will be distributed this day. In the afternoon there will be a euchre and lotto games and in the evening an excellent warm supper will be served.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

Old Jupiter Pluvius interfered with the schedule of the Catholic Baseball League last Sunday, causing the stoppage of all games after one or two innings had been played, including tomorrow's games only.

Four scheduled games remain, and it appears from the present outlook that Capt. Clogg's Champions will repeat last year's performance in capturing the pennant flag, their consistent playing entitling them to that honor.

The four leaders will meet tomorrow and the result may make quite an upset in the first division, while the same state of affairs exists in the second division. The Champions will play the Kentucky Oaks, Shamrocks will meet the Spring Banks, these four being first division teams, while the Bruins vs. Athletics and the Hepburns vs. Cadets will fight for honors in the lower half of the standing, all games to be played at Shawnee Park.

Tickets are being disposed of rapidly for the all star game and field meet which is to be held under the auspices of the Twin City League on Sunday, August 31, at Bellvue Park, and many of the players are now getting into condition to compete for the prizes to be awarded the winners in the class for all around events. The standing of the league to date:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Champions.....	12	4	.750
Spring Banks.....	10	5	.666
Kentucky Oaks.....	10	6	.625
Shamrocks.....	7	8	.466
Bruins.....	7	9	.437
Hepburns.....	5	9	.357

GAYETY THEATER.

The Gayety Theater, which will be the popular play house here, will open its season tomorrow afternoon with "The Call of the Heart" as its initial offering. This play, as its title indicates, is a story of love and devotion, with a message, perhaps a lesson, for every father, mother, daughter, brother and sweetheart. A company of distinctive ability, each member carefully selected to fit the requirements of his or her role, has been assembled to surround John Nicholson, who is being featured in the character of Lord Everlow. Mr. Nicholson has had a wide experience as a dramatic actor in sterling productions, put out by the foremost managers, and as Lord Everlow he has a part which fits him to perfection. Ably co-operating with him for the success of the play is Miss Ann Hamilton, whose convincing methods as Lady Everlow win her sympathy from all. Other members of the cast include Corwin Luskmoor, Clarence Bellair, C. B. Waters, Helen Aubrey, Wells Playter and Billie Shay. Matinees during the week will be on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Many handsome prizes will be given and those purchasing tickets will be given the choice of playing euchre or lotto.
